Racial Equity Action Institute

I strongly believe that a world in which differences can exist without polarizing the social-political atmosphere. My career goals are to continue advancing the intersection of alternative dispute resolution and racial equity work. In my current role, I have the unique opportunity to improve schools and create safe, inclusive and equitable schools, impacting the field of education and creating a more just education system for all. I want to continue this work and see that schools and education are spaces and places to nurture young minds to be the change makers of the world.
